View from the parking lot, approaching the building

This master strategy is based on OBSERVATION. Guests arriving drive down a winding, wooded path that gives small glimpses of the farmland to the south. The trees clear and a building emerges that serves as a portal from the wooded area. The visitor is given the decision to walk into the welcome center or up the ramp that wraps around the building. At the top of the ramp is an observation area that triples as a farm to table dinner and reception area.
