

Initial Site Studies

Specified Building Area

All in One (a)

The object strategy combines all the conditioned program elements into one building. The visitor enters into the large event space and progresses through the brewery and kitchen until arriving at their lodging, gaining an understanding of all of the program along the way.

All in One (b)

The object strategy combines all the conditioned program elements into one building. A blurring of program occurs through transparency or using elements such as brew kettles to divide the spaces. Housing located above provides expansive views of the farmland and an upper outdoor area for dining or receptions.
